NO. 3

In true jomo fashion, this issue has no agenda.
Read it, see it, feel it, think about it....if you want.
If not, then don't :)

As usual, this issue was made by different humans that like to make nice things. Thats it.

Jomo NO. 3

Enjoy ;)

ADAM LIVES IN THEORY.

it's morning time. we wake up in one headspace, and then it changes throughout the day; similar to as we go through life. "emotions" change. in this fast pace world, it is rare to sit with our emotions and honor them, along with what caused them. People wear black to funerals and white to weddings. colors help honor events and periods of time where we feel a certain way. "Mourning Time" seeks to apply a similar concept to every day emotions. Shot in the morning, and not viewing "mourning" in a negative sense. just a way to honor space, time, events and how we feel about them.

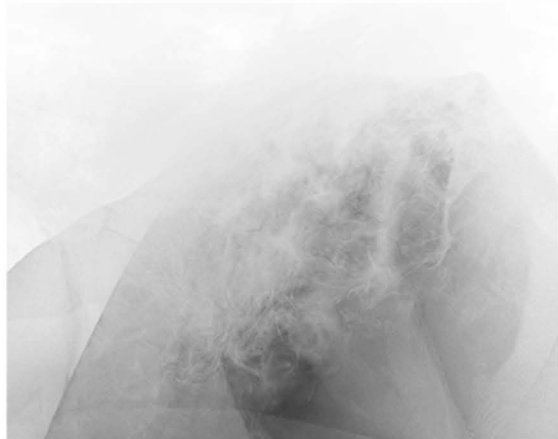

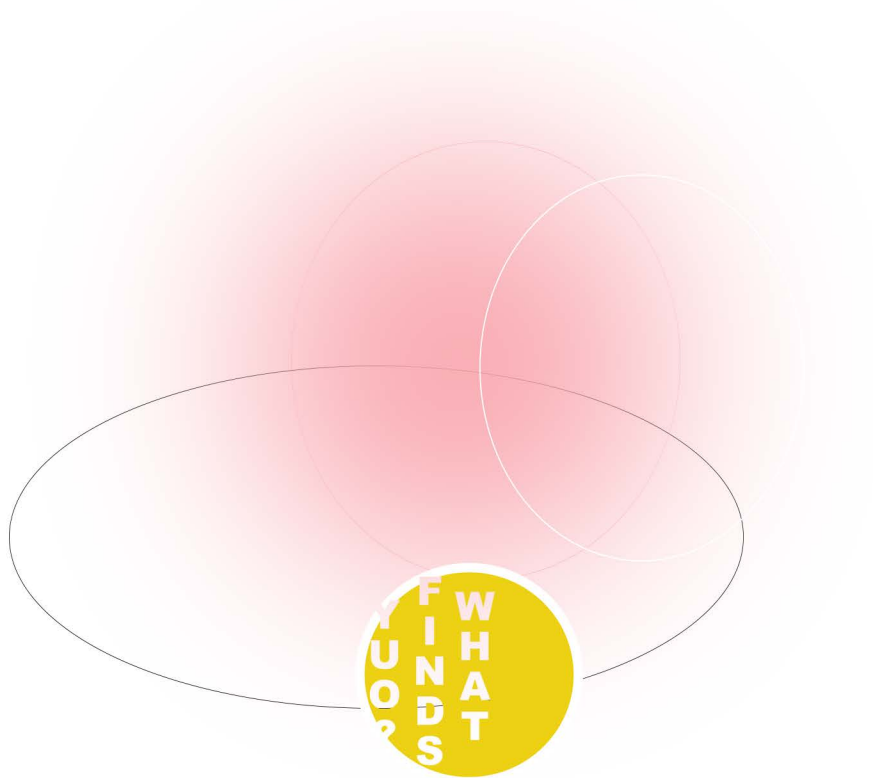

what finds you?

we make choices every day. what to eat, who to meet, where to go, what to do. we chose how to live our lives. but sometimes...just sometimes...there are those rare things that choose you. some things find you. and when they do, they stay. whether its in your memory or your life...forever.
